Join Lori Anne Parker, editor at the Frist Center, as she discusses the Japanese architecture in this exhibition. Complete your evening by relaxing in the Grand Lobby with beverages from the cash bar or café and visiting with friends.

14 Tuesday CityTHINK Nashville Civic Design Center Lunchtime Presentation 11:30 a.m.

Auditorium
Free

This lunch-hour presentation, part of the Nashville Civic Design Center's lecture series CityTHINK, will focus on civic issues related to transportation, green building, public art, urban design projects, and more. A panel of architecture and museum experts will discuss and critique the building projects included in the exhibition. Attendees may bring their lunch or purchase one in the Frist Center's café.

AUGUST

Saturday, August 15 Lecture: "New Museums in Old Places" 2:00 p.m.

Auditorium
Free

Adaptive reuse can be a tricky architectural proposition requiring a designer to respect what's original while meeting new, and often very different, needs. Christine Kreyling, Nashville-based architecture and urban planning critic, will discuss the Frist Center in the context of other renovation and expansion projects featured in this exhibition.

Please visit the Martin ArtQuest Gallery for additional art-making and learning opportunities throughout the exhibition.
